

MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER

Full time, permanent position

Competition #05620828

Are you looking for that career that will allow you to combine your clinical expertise and your proven leadership skills? If you feel you can deliver success by implementing strategies that focus the efforts of individuals on business goals, individual goals, team goals and translating them into positive outcomes – we want to hear from you!

Reporting to the Chief Medical Health Officer (CMHO), the Medical Health Officer (MHO) provides leadership, support and advice in community medicine (including epidemiology, health promotion, disease prevention, health protection, and advocacy), and administration to various levels of the organization to improve the health of the population.

Qualifications:

- A Medical Degree and eligible to be licensed to practice medicine in the province of British Columbia, plus:
 - A master's in Health Sciences or Public Health with a specialty qualification in Public Health and Preventive Medicine (required).
 - A minimum of 5 (five) years' experience in a senior position responsible for the development, implementation, and evaluation of Public Health programs, and in health promotion and disease prevention generally.

What Northern Health has to offer you

- Starting salary will be approximately from $241,925 to $302,406 and will be based on education, training, experience, and salaries of similar positions.
- Comprehensive benefit packages including extended health/dental and a municipal pension plan for part-time and full-time employees.
- Four weeks vacation with one year of continuous service.
- Financial Support for Moving Expenses is available for eligible positions.

Who we are

Northern Health covers an area of nearly 600,000 square kilometers and offers health services in over two dozen communities and 55 First Nation's communities. We deliver hospital and community-based health care for a population of 300,000.

Employing more than 7,000 staff throughout the region, Northern Health provides exceptional health services for Northerners, through the efforts of dedicated staff and physicians, in partnership with communities and organizations in Northern BC.

